DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for the purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 11-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sampsell (US 6,219,839).

Art Unit: 2615

Regarding claim 11, Sampsell discloses a user interface and method to control the operation of multiple components in an audio/visual (A/V) system, including networked information systems where each component of the system has configurable physical parameters analogous to A/V capabilities, such as storage, display, and input/output devices, and separable, i.e., self sufficient, deliverable data products analogous to A/V channels and programs, comprising:

- a) a receiver section for receiving digital television signals (see Fig.1 and TV receiver 12; col.3, line 66 to col.4, line 16);

- b) a digital interface for receiving digital television signals reproduced and transmitted from an external storage device (see Fig.1, digital interface 30 that connects the TV receiver 12 to VCR #1 14, VCR#2 16, laser disc 18, DVD 20, cable 22, direct satellite broadcast receiver 24 and internet connection 26; col.3, line 66 to col.4, line 44);

- c) an on-screen display processor for generating an on-screen display signal from the digital television signals received from the receiver section and from the external storage device, the on-screen processor being adapted to generate a first on-screen display signal representing a description of a television program currently received by the receiver section and a second on-screen display signal representing a description of television programming which is transmitted by the external storage device through the digital interface (see for example, on-screen control 104 of Fig.10; col.7, lines 23-45), here examiner reads the second on-screen display as the display of the EPG information, and the first on-screen display as the display of a program selected for viewing by the user from the EPG information, and the EPG information is externally received from the cable 22 or DBS 24, for example, each of which includes storage means for storing programming information.

Regarding claim 12, Sampsell discloses wherein the first and second on-screen display signals are substantially the same (see col.7, lines 23-45), following the discussions of claim 11 above, examiner reads the EPG information and the program described in the EPG information are being substantially the same.

Regarding claim 13, Sampsell discloses wherein the digital television signals received by the receiver section include television program guide information (col.3, line 66 to col.4, line 11).

Regarding claim 14, Sampsell discloses wherein the digital television signals reproduced and transmitted from the external storage device include television program guide information (col.3, line 66 to col.4, line 11).

Regarding claim 15, Sampsell discloses wherein the on-screen display processor processes the television program guide information included in the reproduced digital television signals to generate the second on-screen display signal and omits unnecessary information from the television guide information (see col.5, lines 2-39; and col.7, lines 23-45), here the program guide information is displayed, the user selects from the program guide information the program desired by the user, leaving any other programming information on the program guide information as unnecessary information.

Regarding claim 16, the claimed limitations of claim 16 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 11 above.

Regarding claim 17, the claimed limitations of claim 17 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 12 above.

Regarding claim 18, the claimed limitations of claim 18 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 13 above.

Regarding claim 19, the claimed limitations of claim 19 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 14 above.

Regarding claim 19, the claimed limitations of claim 19 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 15 above.

Art Unit: 2615

Regarding claim 21, the claimed limitations of claim 21 are accommodated in the discussions of claim 11 above. Here, as discussed in claim 11 above, the first on-screen display displays the program desired and selected from the EPG information, wherein the claimed indicia include the program name, the channel carrying the program, the program start/end times, which are inherent in a scheduled program in order to identify the program; and the second on-screen display displays the EPG information, wherein the second set of indicia includes the identification parameters of the programs contained in the EPG information, and examiner reads the claimed distinguishing indicia element as the channel that is carrying a program.

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CAR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CAR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2615
